I used to hear the wind
call out at night
Revealing all the secrets of the day
In a fleeting moment.
Disturbing the leaves
from their slumber.
Until it was time to move on once more.

Laurie Moehl

... Each dawn is a new beginning ... each beginning has new challenges ... to work together, to build better bridges of understanding ... to work together but not become submerged, to be an individual ... to make your voice heard ...

. . . Challenges of living . . . doing things right . . . making and keeping friends . . . the challenge of experiencing the joys and sorrows of life . . . communicating with the world, each new day.

Music, speech, art, writing, all challenged to recognize and produce quality art . . . each as a respected division of FINE ARTS, with much knowledge to offer, but students have fun while learning.

Homesteader improves

Photographers Mike Miller, Tom Bullock, John Oehm, Pete Henry, and Bill Daniel.

The Homesteader staff often stayed past nine and ten o'clock to meet deadlines. The book had an eight page edition making for a bigger and better year-book.

Editors Joel Wiegand, Nora Spilker and Advisor Mr. Mike Diffenderfer.

Business Managers Jerry Bauer, Doug McKiddy and staff Phoebe Kaplan, Julie Hagemeier and Becky Murray.

Pioneer staff publishes better paper

The Pioneer has undergone many changes in the past year. For instance, it had advertising for the 1st year in history. Controversial articles have dominated the copy, along with the emphasis on sports. Over-all the Pioneer has expanded with the changing times.

DEBATE

Spirited by some very outstanding individuals, the BHS Varsity Debate Squad maintained a pretty impressive record. Analysis was their greatest asset. "We don't have any evidence, so we have to analyze." In the novice squad, several teams showed ability and promise for the coming seasons. Few of those who witnessed the event will forget the time at the Apollo Tournament when fearless Mrs. Hoffman "Told Cross to shut up."

Al Davison and Coach Hoffman discuss plan attacks.

Drama Club

During the course of the school year, several fabulous productions were made possible by the Drama Club's efforts. These included The Miser, in the fall and The Fantastics and the Drama Festival Week in the spring.

Dramatics takes the challenge

The challenge of successful performance — and personal satisfaction — was captured in 71-72 by the Drama Department with their plays The Miser, Sir Slob and the Princess, and The Ants. Many called The Miser the greatest all-school production in years. Mr. Larson's drama classes delighted elementary school children with their presentation of Sir Slob; The Ants was presented in competition with surrounding schools.

Orchestra has busy schedule

The Beatrice High School Orchestra began an active year with a concert in October featuring Bryce McBride as guitar soloist.

Seven string players on positions in the NMEA State Clinic Orchestra in November, were Glenn Buller, violin; Barbara Rogge, viola; Tom Robertson and Lorna Ketelsen, Cello; and Karen Campbell, Bobby Lacy, and Tom Cass, basses.

The Beatrice Orchestra Clinic has become a state-wide event with musicians from ten other schools joining the Beatrice Orchestra for a day of rehearsals and an evening concert. Marvin Rabin was Guest Conductor this year for an inspiring session.

The High School and Junior High School A Orchestras presented a concert on March 7.

The climax of the year was the "Orchestra Showcase — 1972" in which each of the school's three symphony orchestras performed in concert.

Clinic was successful.

Concert Band: A learning experience

CONCERT BAND

Playing in concert band, musicians had the opportunity to contribute to a group effort, and at the same time improve their knowledge of music as a medium of expression.

Musicians from the band participated in the Apollo Clinic at Ralston. Highlights of the concert season were the annual Mid-Winter and Bandorama Concerts.

BHS Orangeman Marching Band

Although the '71 marching season was not the greatest of all time — with tight schedules, disappointing cancellations, and, of course, “those sophomores” — each band member will remember those moments of apprehension and expectation before half-time, and that feeling only a showman has after a good performance.

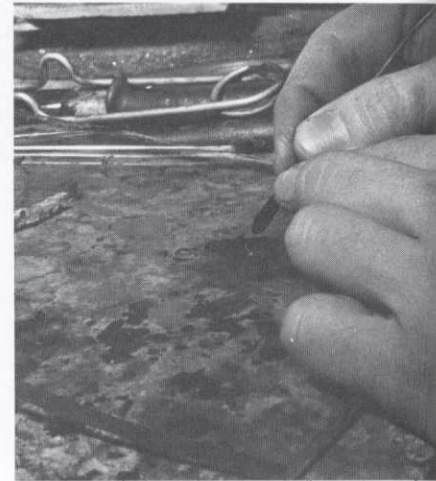

Stage Band . . . “Movin’ Up”

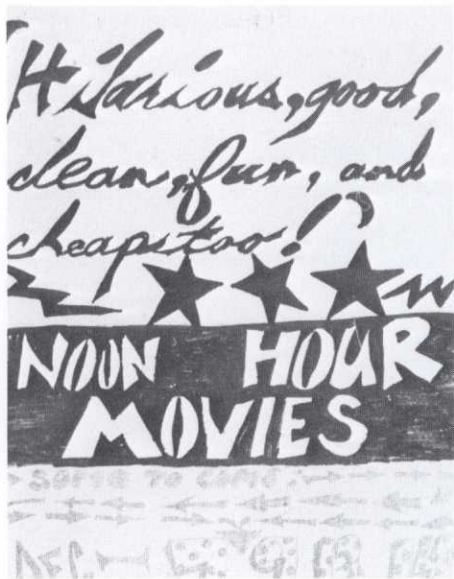

As the title of one piece of their repertoire reflects, the Stage Band of BHS had a year of “movin’ up.” For the first time, the band had a regular rehearsal schedule, and travelled with new front stands. With effective use of practice time, soloists gained the ability to “freak out” whenever a piece presented the opportunity for improvisation.

BACK ROW: D. Dodge, R. Wahlborg, J. Fox, T. Bullock, B. Murray, Karen Campbell, L. Glass. MIDDLE ROW: M. Young, C. Casey, N. Schwandt, W. Buess, B. McBride. FRONT ROW: N. Brandt, S. Walker, A. Zimmerman, S. Jensen, D. Hiesterman.

The true work of art is but a shadow of the divine perfection.
— Michael Angelo.

Art

To express myself . . .

Art does not imitate nature, but founds itself on the study of nature — takes from nature the selections which best accord with its own intention, and then bestows on them that which nature does not possess, viz.: the mind and soul of man. — Bulwer.

The Fantasticks

The Fantasticks, a musical in simple style, is a story of two lovers who quarrel, and are each determined to see the world. But their return and Happy Ending meets with overwhelming approval from the audience; the performances March 10 and 11 at BHS were no exceptions.

Director: Mr. Tim Larson
Production Manager: Julie Hagemeyer

BELOW: Matt and Luisa see the cruel world via Henry, the old actor, and the great El Gallo. BELOW RIGHT: Musicians practice diligently under direction of Mr. Person and Miss Reilly.

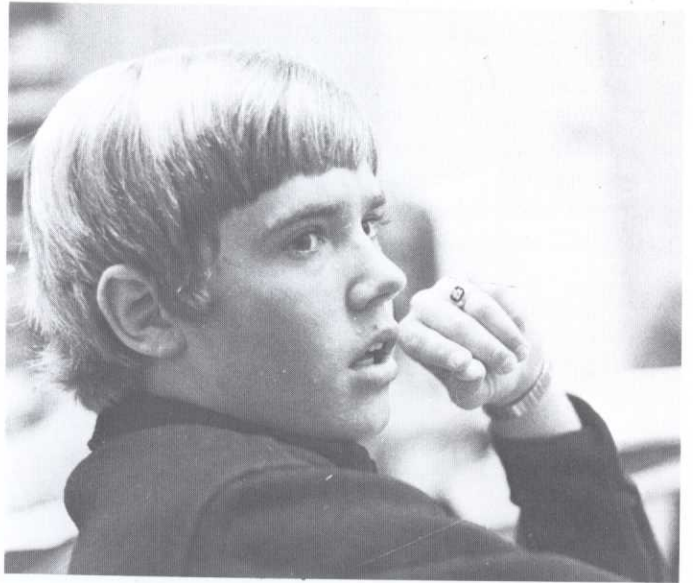

Seniors . . .

Sophomores.

. . . Each new day brings new challenges to the PEOPLE of BHS.

. . . To the Sophomores, a question of identity . . . to the Juniors, trying to fight their way to that top position in everything . . . to the Seniors, what do I do tomorrow?

When I was a Senior . . .

When I was a senior, I could hardly believe at first that I had really made it. When the realization hit me, I wanted to shout, to dance, to kiss the first sophomore in sight!

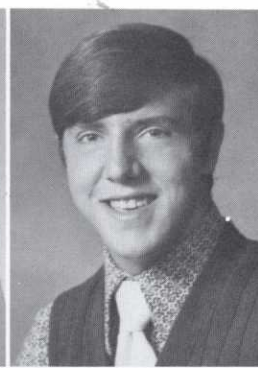

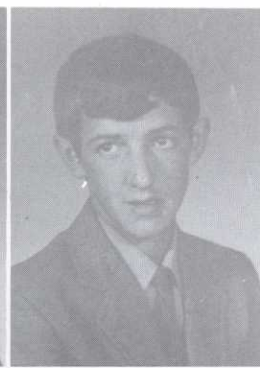

But as the days passed, my joy was mixed with awed reverence for the fleeting moments I would never know again. I noticed myself accumulating so many "last things," from my last homecoming to those breath-taking last weeks of school. It took but a moment to score that winning touchdown at Southeast, to walk up and receive my diploma, and to pass through the doors of BHS for the last time. I clutched each moment tightly, longing to hold them just a little while longer, but they laughingly slipped through my fingers.

Doctor? Lawyer? Merchant? Chief? What will I be in the years ahead? What will the future bring to me? There are so many decisions to be made in so short a time. Although I am forced to look ahead to a new day . . . a new challenge, I know I will always cherish memories of my senior year — the year 1972.

The first year of senior high has its downfalls and its challenges. Some of the main downfalls are battling Seniors (and Juniors) through the halls and getting to eat after the junior high students.

The challenges of being a Sophomore are great, but the main ones include candy sales and building floats for Homecoming.

We do know, that no matter how challenging, we are going to fight our way to the top.

ORGANIZATIONS, clubs of common interests, ideas, friends, ACTIVITIES, people getting together in work and fun to express themselves . . . riding on the Homecoming Queen's float . . . catching a few short winks during the 54 hour marathon . . . these are such efforts put out by students during the year.

1972 Homecoming

And the 1972 Homecoming queen is: Miss Fran Frerichs. The highlight of all week was coronation when Council president Mike McKiddy presented Fran with the crown. There was excitement shown in all the students of BHS. Members of Homerooms and organizations carried out this year's theme of "Nostalgia" thru floats and decorations.

Then we can't forget the bonfire that wasn't and the parade with a Sophomore float winning first place.

Homecoming 1972 was excitement, tears, happiness, and flashing cameras, but most of all a day that we'll always remember.

Zip Club abolishes merits

Zip Club worked hard this year to support and initiate school spirit for all sports. Busses were taken for nearly all out-of-town sports so that Zip Club could go. This year's club did away with the traditional merit system, and setting up guidelines for the members to follow. Zip Club earned money selling school pins and pennants and their jail booth at the carnival brought in the most money.

Lettergirls find job challenging

This year there were 10 Lettergirls instead of the 8 girls spelling BEATRICE. Two girls were added who wore the emblem of William of Orange. The Lettergirls agreed that they work hard but really have a good time. They felt they learned responsibility and ability to make group decisions. Instead of having a head lettergirl all year they decided each girl would be more involved if they alternated each month.

They host parents of athletes for each sport. Endless hours of work go into each Parent Night. They send invitations, make tags and help prepare food for the lunch.

They helped football boys thru summer practice by putting up signs at 6:00 summer mornings. Before the season they stuffed miniature football plays for each boy. They made cakes for Tennis and Cross Country teams. They made Christmas stockings and got up at 4:00 a.m. the morning of Kearney Wrestling Invitational to decorate the boys busses.

Miss Krause felt that this year's squad did a good job of supporting all sports.

Cheerleaders — spirit of BHS

"It's really worthwhile cheering for a winning team." This was the attitude of this year's cheerleading squad. They work hard but they feel the experience is really worthwhile. The varsity cheerleaders practice every night after school and more than five hours a week.

Varsity cheerleaders had seven girls instead of last year's six to lead cheers, and chants during football and basketball games.

The sophomore, reserve and varsity squads attended cheerleading clinic at Doane College last summer. They learned new cheers which helped build spirit at BHS.

Drill Team entertains during half-time

The Drill Team made up of about 30 girls under the guiding eye of Miss Davis performed at half-time at several football games and home basketball games.

The members are chosen in spring by performing a pom-pom routine for judges. When school starts they practice in the gym in the evening. The band helps by taping music for practice and playing for haltime performances. They have performed routines to songs, such as "Big Spender" and "California Dreamer."

Drill Team is an organization which always provides an exciting show for the community.

Industrial Arts Club takes field trip

The purpose of the Industrial Arts Club is to better educate and give students a background in industrial arts. After their meetings, members can stay and work on any project that they want to. The club planned to take many field trips. One, which was to the Vocational Technical School in Hastings. The members all worked for their Industrial Arts fair at the end of the year.

New ideas raise money

This year's Key Club served its purpose well of being a service to the community.

During the summer they painted the Salvation Army church and then gave more than $1,000 to the Salvation Army for the needy at Christmas. They raised this money by their basketball marathon.

The club also helped with travelogue tickets and concessions. During Homecoming week they sponsored a pie-throw to earn money.

Key Club was the sponsor of the basketball marathon to raise money for the Salvation Army to give to the needy at Christmas.

The Key Club teams played many other teams including the Nebraska redshirts, the police department, and even some girls teams. The outcome of the game after 54 hours; Key Club the winner. But actually the Salvation Army is the real winner.

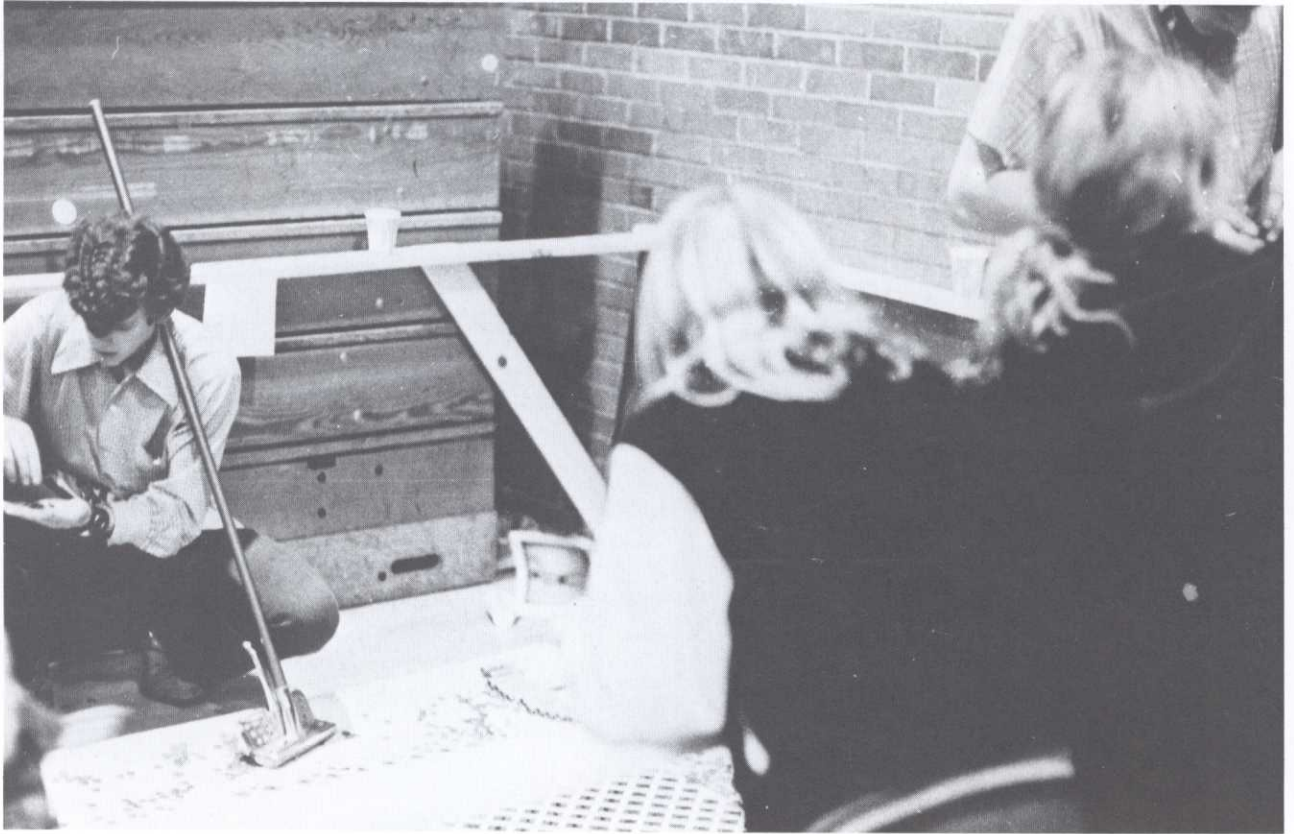

The Individual players were sponsored by donors on a set amount per point. From the donations, admissions, and concessions over a thousand dollars was raised.

This was the first activity of its kind for the city of Beatrice.

DECA Club is a national youth organization for students to develop leaders in marketing and distribution. This year's club has been very active in school. They started a DECA club in Fairbury and attended conventions in Hastings and Lincoln. DECA club raised money with their sales projects and the all-school carnival which they initiated. They also had an appreciation night for the custodians and at the end of the year an employee-employer banquet. DECA helped Beatrice stores with their fall opening and took a survey for the Retail Council. They also attempted an exchange program with a Technical High School.

Olof Englund joined the Rev. Alton Schwandt family the end of August. He has his home in Sweden.

Olof enjoys basketball and accompanied Beatrice's team to many games. Since there is lots of snow in Sweden, Olof enjoys skiing.

During his year with Schwandts in Beatrice, Olof attended several out-of-town conferences. He went to an International Students Convention at Lincoln Southeast in November. There he had the privilege of speaking at a Knight pep rally.

He also attended a church Youth Convention in Omaha during Thanksgiving.

Students of Beatrice High will always remember Olof for his red hat proclaiming "Swedes are really great."

Paap's enjoy Siti from Malaysia

The Paaps hosted Siti Mansor from Malaysia this school year. The Paaps thought it was fun learning from living with people with different backgrounds. Siti's AFS sister Virginia thought "Siti was a lot of fun and a big help around the house."

Siti's life in Malaysia is much different than here. She is Moslem and comes from a large family. She also attended an all girls school in Malaysia. She really looked forward to seeing snow for the first time.

Everyone who has met Siti will readily admit "She's a lot of fun to be with."

Student Council

The main goal of Student Council this year was to improve the communication between council members, students and the administration.

They set up committees to organize Homecoming Week. Mike McKiddy, Council President crowned Queen Fran Frerichs.

Other activities of Student Council were helping to earn money for Community Chest and by better publicity tried to encourage 18 year old students to donate blood at the Bloodmobile.

Members attended the State Student Council Convention at Omaha Benson in November where Tom Bullock was a candidate for President.

AFS benefit attracts crowd

On an exceptionally warm day in March the annual Burger Buffet was held in the Senior High Gyms and Cafeteria. Over 1000 people were served with hamburgers, assorted salads, cakes baked by Student Council members, and ice cream. The money earned will be used to bring two AFS students to Beatrice next year. This large crowd was entertained by French can-can girls and dancers, a German band and dancers, a Junior High vocal group, and various other acts.

Orange and Black

Sixty-six lettermen were honored at the annual Orange and Black Athletic Banquet despite lack of funds. To pay for the athletes' dinners, businessmen sponsored their tickets.

B-Club invited Cletus Fisher to be speaker. Mr. Cecil Richmond was master of ceremonies. Among those honored were Mark Woita, most valuable basketball player; Bill Armstrong, Winner of the Roger Woods memorial trophy for football, and Mark Bathal, recipient of the Warren Simmons award for gymnastics.

B-Club president, Bill Armstrong, crowned Mary Young as Queen. Peter Temaat and Jennifer Starr presented Mary with roses. Madrigal and Stage Band provided entertainment for the evening. The nine escorts were chosen by the coaches to represent a sport at BHS.

throughout season

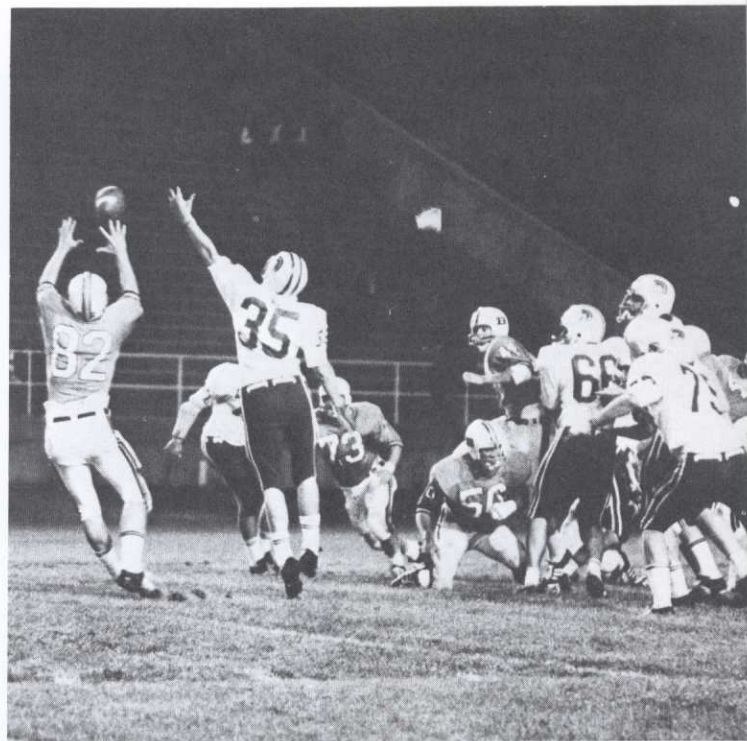

Southeast victory is climax to season

A well-balanced team met with success as the Orangemen went 7-2. The offensive team, behind a great line, was able to drive for more than 2,400 yards. A hard hitting defense, led by Armstrong, proved to be one of the finest in the state. The game against number one rated Lincoln Southeast finally showed the strength of this team. At the end of the season, Beatrice was rated in the top five. The year had a couple of heart-breaks, but no one gave up during a game. This team is truly one of the best Beatrice has ever seen.

1971 Gymnasts are a dedicated team

Gymnastics this year showed a very dedicated team. The team was somewhat inexperienced with three seniors, two juniors, eight sophomores, and five freshmen making up the squad. The team will miss seniors Mark Bathel, Dean Raser, and Mark Briscoe, but returning gymnasts will make up a good team for next year.

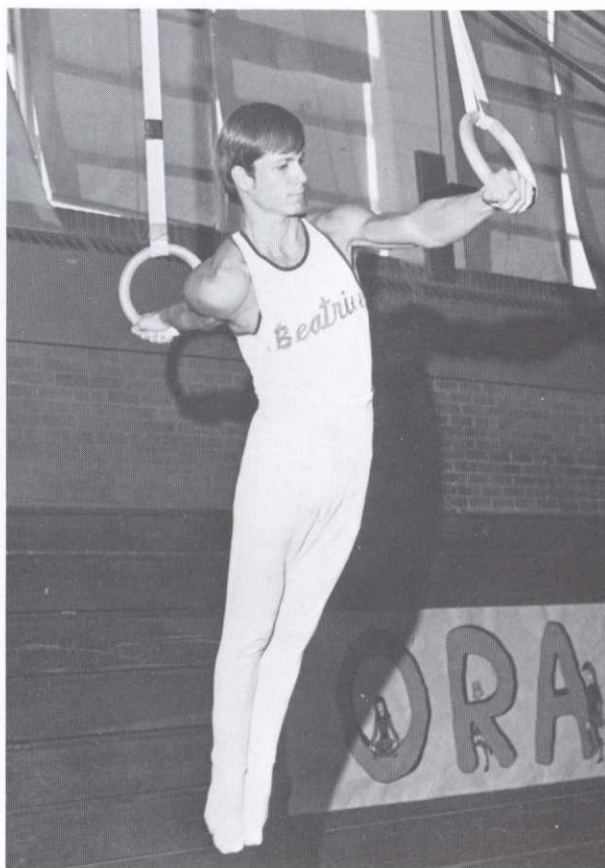

Bob Meints came up with nine wins and Kent Lane also scored high in the individual race. The team took fourth place at the District meet in Grand Island.
