HOMESTEADER 1973
BEATRICE HIGH SCHOOL
BEATRICE, NEBRASKA
VOLUME 45

"My reflection is mirrored back to me as I look from this window;
I cannot see the world
from here.
When will I be wise enough to know what it is like outside these walls?"

Reaching Out Means Realizing . . .

a football tie is about the same as "kissing your sister"
you shouldn't always follow the crowd
the teacher is usually right your future is most important to you you have to take defeat to know success
"everyone is beautiful in their own way" loving is leaving yourself to go towards others understanding is the key to happiness you may have to shout to be heard above the crowd
nothing is worth more than this day sometimes it takes more than 110% effort school spirit can be really "decent" even when you don't win
you can be a help instead of a bother everyone has their ups and downs you are an individual time goes fast when you're having fun you won't have this year to do over again girls' sports are important too
a reason to reach out and be someone

I do my thing and you do your thing I am not in this world to live up to your expectations and you are not in this world to live up to mine

You are you and I am I and if by chance we find each other it's beautiful

Frederick S. Pearle

Reaching Out Means Caring . . .

respecting everyone appreciating help laughing a lot giving helpful instructions hoping to win touching hands apologizing
giving a compliment working extra hours meeting new kids deciding a future
waiting for a sunset loving and living sharing a dream
reaching out to show you care

Reaching Out Means Creating . . .

a controversial Homecoming a perfect defense an art masterpiece
a 54-hour basketball marathon knowledge in your own mind a 1st rated newspaper something for someone you love problems for the administration a great musical like Charlie Brown an awarding Orange and Black a beautiful junior-senior prom
the 1973 Homesteader lettergirls with lots of spirit
a drama festival week
a winning volleyball team
new friends and attitudes a pep-rally skit
a future for yourself
a reason for living a memorial to friends you love
a reason to reach out and be someone

FACULTY

Beatrice High has teachers who respect their students and listen to them. They spend many hours reaching out to students.

They sponsor the out-of-town buses, put on musical programs, advise yearbook staffs, help out with carnivals, and try to make their students learn something about living in today's world.

By reaching out to students, they help solve some of the problems of today.

Beatrice Acquires New Superintendent

Without competent direction, a school cannot exist. Here at Beatrice High we have an over-abundance of directors. They are all pros in their field and know how to get the job done.

Throughout this school year, they have all been hard at work making decisions, grade cards, and completely guiding all facets of school life. They have also been keeping up on current school policies and adjusting the curriculum to fit today's changes.

Administration Strategy

The administration at Beatrice High includes three important people: The principal, assistant principal, and the athletic director.

These men make all of the major decisions concerning the senior high life.

Assistant Principal, Mr. Malone, at his desk.

Right: Athletic Director, Mr. Jones.

Teachers' Helpers

The need for special teachers and aides in a school of our size is quite apparent. Our paraprofessionals help out other regular teachers when the need arises.

Without the help of our studyhall supervisors, students would have no where to go to talk.

Mrs. Enszt, our special ed. teacher, helps apply learning to all students.

Our librarians help dispense knowledge.

Mrs. Enszt advises BHS students.

Miss Forke and Mrs. Haberman BHS's paraprofessionals.

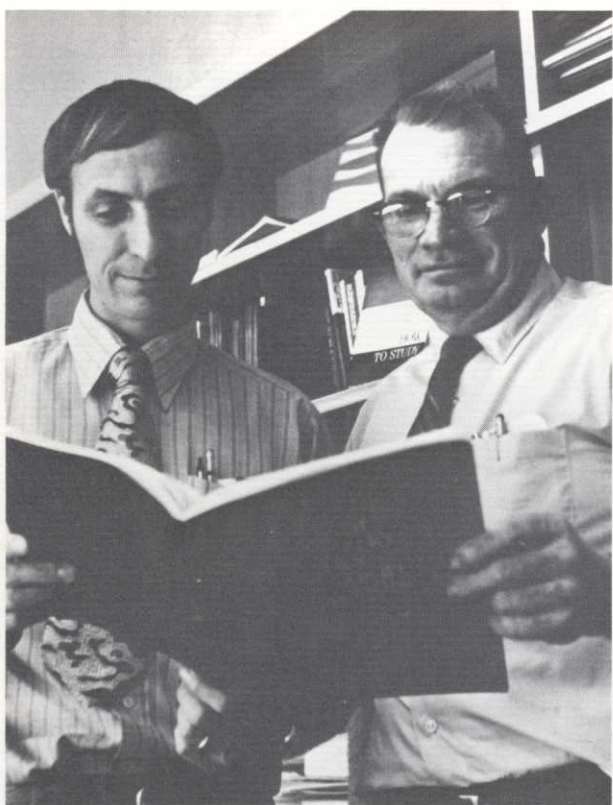

Study Hall Supervisors are: Mrs. Penner, Mrs. Paap, and Miss McPherrin.

Watching for our library books, and helping students find information are Mrs. Herrington and Mrs. Leech.

This year's secretaries were Mrs. Glover, Miss Grefe, and Mrs. Morris.

Answering telephones, watching attendance, delivering messages, and many other activities have kept BHS secretaries busy this year.

The guidance counselors, Mr. Bird and Mr. Kugler, were kept busy with filling out transcripts for college bound students, and determining next year's courses.

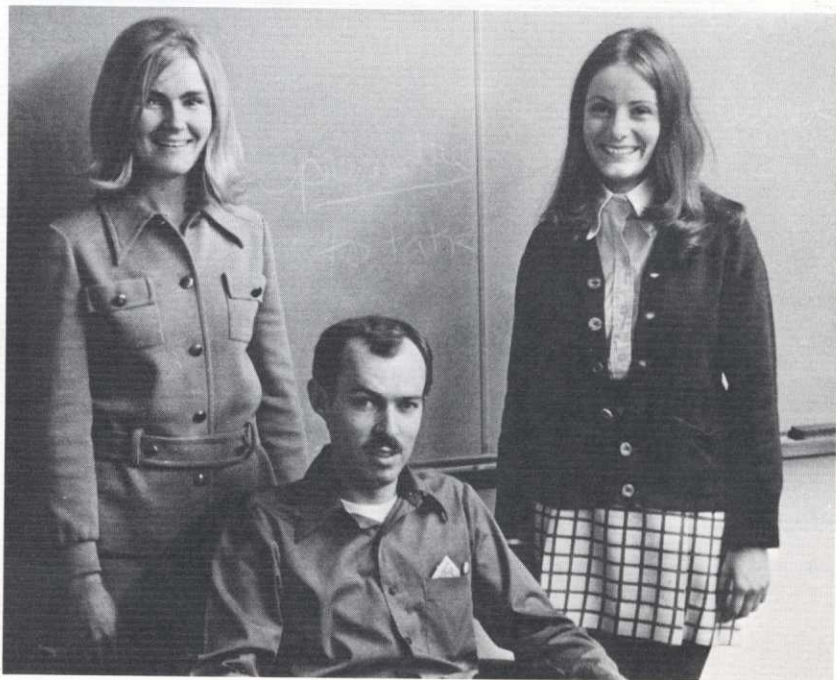

Nurse Berry kept all Beatrice students in good health.

Languages Unite Peoples

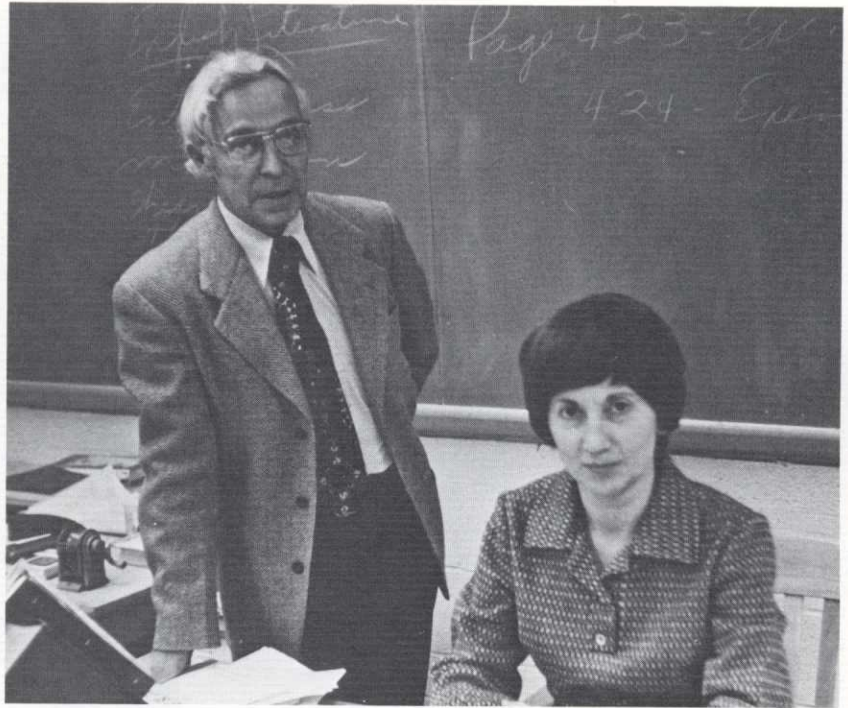

Above: Mrs. Sookram and Mrs. Turner both teach various English classes. Left: Mr. Diffenderfer advises Jan Brockman, yearbook editor. Mr. Diffenderfer teaches communications as well as both Journalism classes. Below: Foreign languages are taught by three instructors. Mrs. Druliner teaches second and third year Spanish, while Mr. Shepherd teaches German. Miss Williams teaches French.

The purpose of the Foreign Language Department is to provide the students with a good interpretation of a foreign language. By doing this, a student is able to appreciate the customs and literature of a different country. In the Spanish, German, and French classes dialogues, speech patterns, tapes, and structure drills are used to help the student learn to express himself in the language which he is learning to speak.

English Relies on Old Device "The Book"

Mr. Richmond and Miss Stevens discuss their American Literature and English Literature classes.

The main device used in teaching the students all the different and interesting parts of English is still the "book."

The main goals of the English Department this year were to help students develop an artistic appreciation of literature, develop their ability in critical thinking, and to develop their fluency in the communication of ideas through oral and written composition.

Along with courses of English Literature, Creative Writing, American Literature, Mass Communications, Sophomore English, Film Literature, Modern Paperback, Current Reading, and Contemporary Literature, two new courses, Film Study and Periodicals, were also taught to the students enabling them to have a better selection of English courses to choose from.

More individual work was done this year.

Mrs. Hoffman and Mr. Knepper teach a variety of English classes.

One Small Step for Man . . .

Helping each student realize that there are many ways to reach a solution and teaching him to think for himself are the two main goals of the Mathematics Department.

Two new electronic calculators were put in operation as a new way to get the problem solved easier and with less frustration.

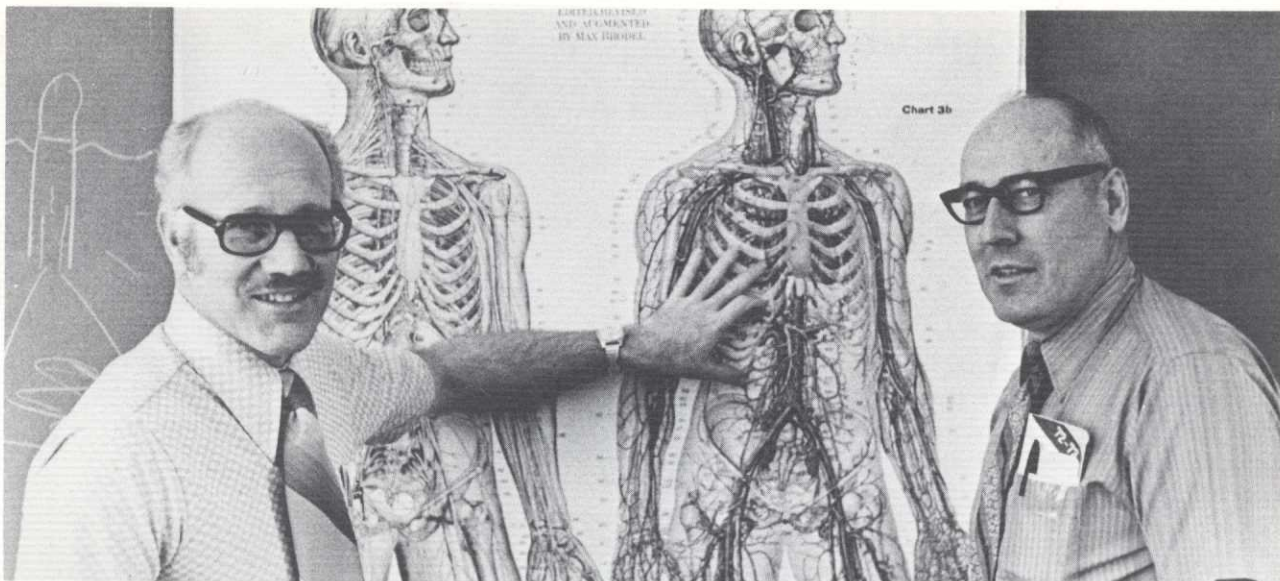

The various divisions in the Mathematics Department include algebra, trigonometry, senior mathematics, geometry, and remedial arithmetic. Slide rule was a new course offered to those students who need this instrument in other classes in which they are involved and for future use in the different college courses.

Mr. Bell explains algebra equation to puzzled student, Dede Loper.

Mr. Martin and Mrs. Thies are hard at work on geometry packets.

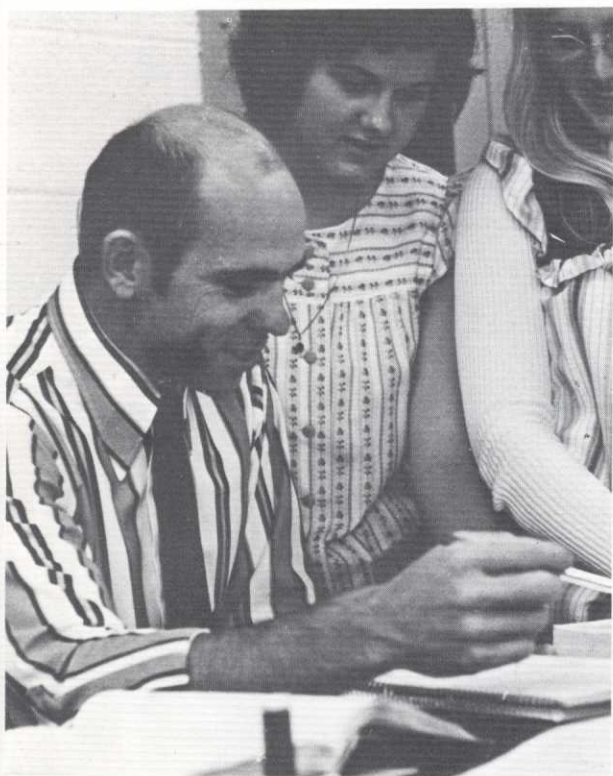

Mr. Guy and Mr. Tubbs enlighten students in Biology and Chemistry.

Math and Science Individualized

To develop authentic literate citizens through an understanding of the methods of science and the role of chemistry in the society and everyday living has been the main goal taught through the courses in the Science Department.

The wide use of the TV monitor for individuals and group viewing of special videotaped presentations and the extensive use of cassette tapes used by students to inform them of the details of each laboratory investigation they carry on have been very useful to both student and teacher.

Many field trips were taken this year. Plants were visited to give the students an appreciation of the importance of science in today's life. Science has been one small step for man, but one giant leap for mankind.

Mr. Greenhalgh puts students to the grindstone in Senior Math and Physics.

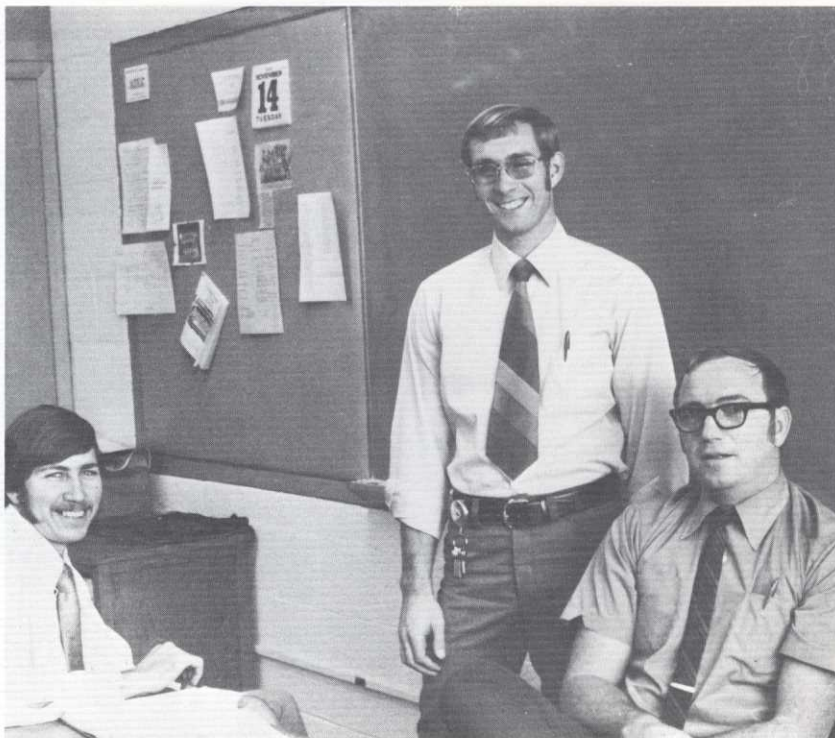

Business Education Prepares Students . . .

Preparing the students to assume the responsibilities of the business world and teaching the students personal skills which will be helpful and usable for future years are the main goals of the Business Education Department.

With the addition of an IBM transcriber, the students were able to learn the use of one more machine used in the business office.

The various divisions of the Business Education Department are bookkeeping, business problems, business law, distributive education, personal and clerical typing, secretarial and clerical practice, and shorthand.

With the help of these courses, every student can hold down a good job.

Mr. Highstreet, Mr. Boelter, and Mr. Temaat, Business Ed. teachers, prepare plans to "prepare" students.

Miss Rist and Miss Sawyer, typing instructors.

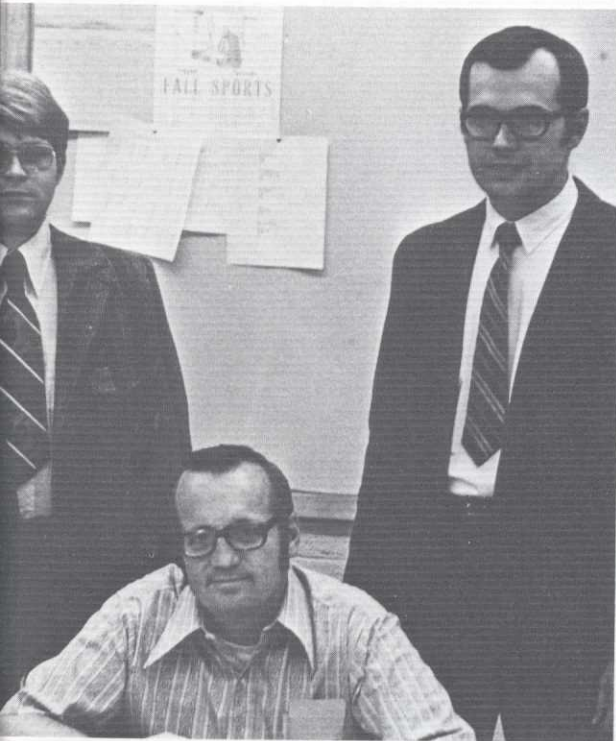

Industrial Arts and Home Economics . . .

Mr. Hepp, Architectural Drafting, and Mr. Hileman, Wood Shop, review their lesson plans.

Home Economics is fun with Mrs. Schulz and Miss Krause.

Industrial Arts teachers, Mr. Adam and Mr. McMullen. Agriculture instructor, Mr. Tejral.

For a better tomorrow!

The Home Economics Department has gone individualized. A student is able to learn certain skills and develop an insight into the various aspects of family and community life.

The industrial arts training is an important part of the public part of the BHS school program. The main goal of the Industrial Arts Department this year was to give the student a background that will help them fit into the world of work, which is the basis of our industrial society.

Mr. Gardner contemplates History problem.

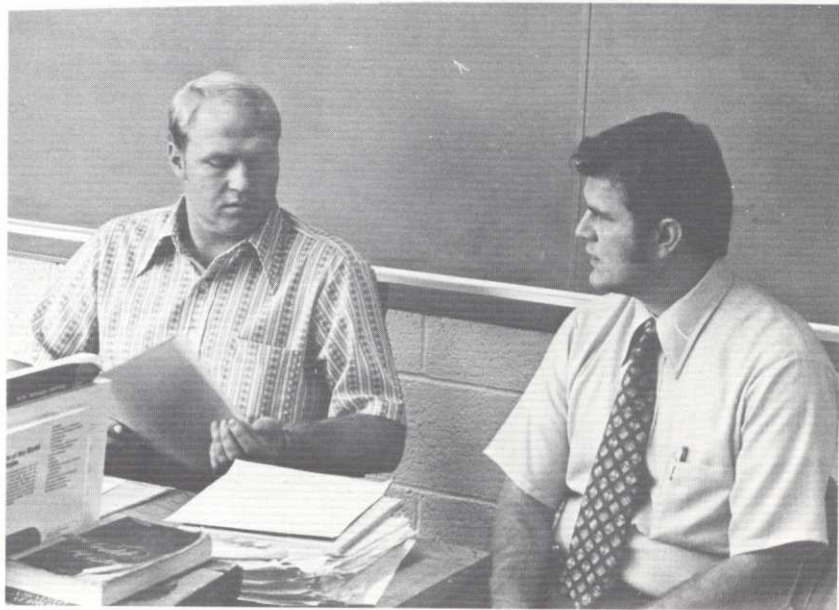

Relating Yesterday to Today's Problems

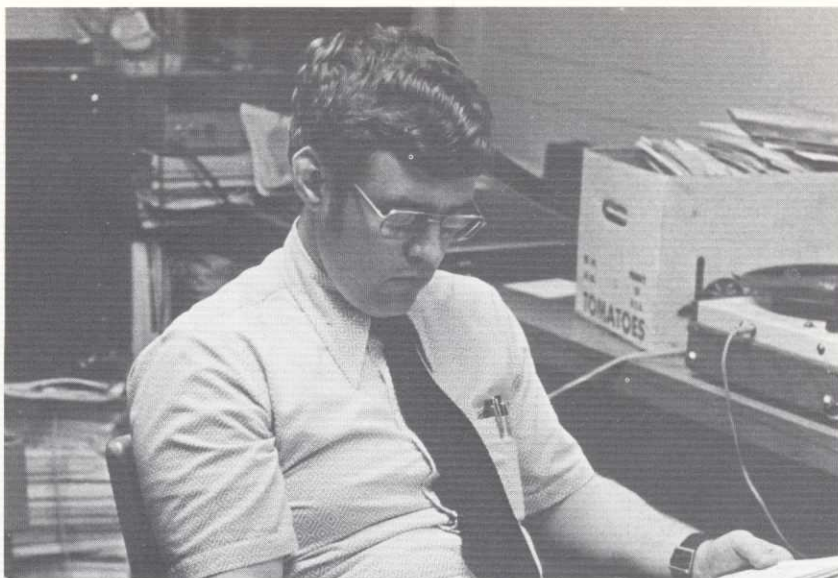

Mr. Cosier and Mrs. Purdy.

Sociology and Geography were new courses offered this year. Packets were again used but with more emphasis.

The main goals of the Social Science Department presented to the students were to develop an understanding and appreciation of other peoples and their way of life, prepare a student to live in a complex and ever-changing world, and to promote the understanding of the role of a citizen in a democratic society.

Mr. Quick and Mr. Hergenrader, sociology, and American history teachers.

Fine Arts Department Display Many Talents

Many concerts, programs, and plays were given throughout the year by the vocal and instrumental groups of the Fine Arts Department.

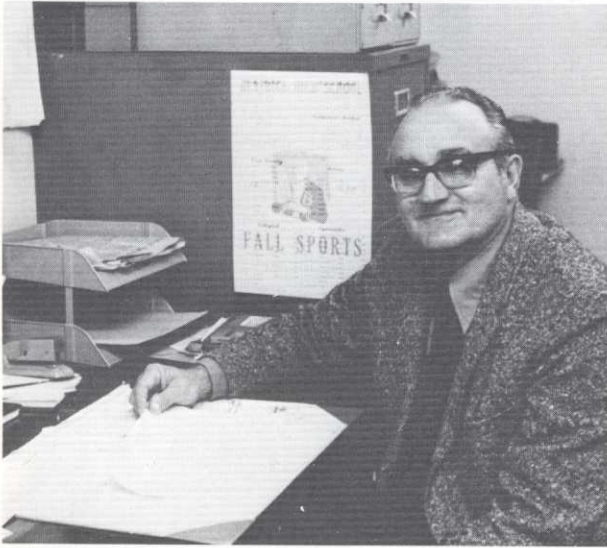

Outstanding art projects were placed on display at the annual art show of Beatrice High.

Enthusiasm by the individual is an element needed for maximum satisfaction in the Fine Arts Department and it must come from within the student.

Health and Safety Promoted at BHS

Mr. Lutz, Driver's Ed. and Adult Education

Beatrice High realizes that the physical health of each student is important. The Physical Education Department allowed the student to find enjoyment in physical activity and gain an understanding of physical "fitness."

Many opportunities in the P.E. classes were offered so the students could learn about the different sports and fitness programs in the world today.

The purpose of the Driver Education Department was to teach the students the basic rules and laws of the road and impart an understanding of safe driving.

Teachers discuss student problems.

Mrs. Petrillo and Mr. Nannen, Phys. Ed. Teachers.

Clean School 'Round the Clock Job!

Mrs. Scoggin, head of Cafeteria.

BHS students of 73 changed from students of past years. Many reached out and became aware of problems but couldn't always solve them. No one was concerned with appearance because whether someone wore faded jeans and a "shag" or a crew cut with white socks everyone was accepted. By reaching out and becoming someone students strived to be recognized.

"In the morning of my life
I look to the sunrise
At a moment in my life
when the world is new and the blessing I shall ask only God can grant me — to be brave and strong, and true, and to fill the world with love my whole life through.

"In the evening of my life
I shall look to the sunset
At a moment in my life
when the day is through and the question I shall ask only you can answer — was I brave, and strong, and true
Did I fill the world with love

ACTIVITIES

Activities are always interesting to the people who are participating. Beatrice High offered a variety of important activities for the 1972-73 school year.

Homecoming was "one of life's little pleasures" and so was the Charlie Brown play. Music offered a means of expressing one's self.

No matter if you were a member of Student Council, Future Farmers or on the journalism staff, you were given a chance to reach out; to be someone in what ever way you made possible.

Pioneer Reflects Student Awareness

"I think the changes in the Pioneer this year have reflected the change in attitude of the entire student body," stated Jain Penner, newspaper editor.

This year's newspaper was a booklet size with a variety of controversial subjects of school concern. The Pioneer staff is looking forward to a first place rating for the Pioneer 1972-1973.

Debaters Stand Resolved

"Who took the red hand-book?" That was a common question as 10 varsity and 23 novice debaters delved into the problem of how to finance education. Mrs. Hoffman's squad brought home several trophies for a very successful season.
